

feathers planning

resource consent specialists

*Are you an experienced planner looking to take your planning career to the next level?
Are you wanting to work for a thriving planning consultancy with varied projects?
Looking for flexible hours that work around your personal situation?*

feathers planning is a boutique planning consultancy which provides all types of resource management services, but specialises in resource consenting for land use developments and subdivision. We focus on developing tailored, innovative and practical solutions for all proposals requiring planning and resource management input – from small-scale tasks to significant projects. We are trusted advisors and are respected by the many disciplines and professions we collaborate with on projects – and we believe strongly in the value that planners bring to our clients and their projects

Due to an increased demand for our services we have an extraordinary opportunity for an experienced Planning Consultant to join our professional team. Thinking outside of the box, providing expert, timely and accurate resource management advice and services to a range of clients are key considerations, and just as importantly - your attitude and outlook are critical - we are looking for the person with the right fit and for someone who can hit the ground running.

This is an amazing chance to further develop your planning career with the future option of greater responsibility, and potential entry into part ownership or shareholding of a successful company.

What you can expect from us

A competitive negotiable salary along with an environment where you can hone your existing skills and develop new ones.

NZPI membership and access to support for continuing education costs.

Stylish modern office in a central city location, with mobile up to the minute technology.

An environment where we take pride in personalized and professional approach to client management and delivery of solutions,

What we will expect from you

You will be confident, motivated, and passionate about planning and making a difference working in a team that delivers complex community development projects.

You will have excellent written and oral communication skills as well as the ability to engage effectively with clients and stakeholders alike.

You will be tertiary qualified in planning and have at least 5 years relevant work experience.

You will have a sound knowledge and understanding of resource management and other planning frameworks.

Closing date for applications is Friday, 23rd October 2020.

For further information, a detailed position description or to apply with a covering letter and CV, please email Jodi Gowers at admin@feathers.co.nz.